Kaina Mussagy Arentsen is the Manager responsible for the Projects, Energy & Infrastructure Practice Group. She has extensive experience providing legal advice on full range of extractive industry-related matters. She provides legal advice to foreign investors in various matters, including environmental compliance, in particular to mining companies. The assistance ranges from strategic corporate matters to investment structures efficient in Mozambique. She has also been involved in infrastructure and energy projects, having working alongside the relevant government departments. In addition, she has strong experience in the tax, commercial and labour areas.

Kaina's clients range from the leading producers of minerals in Mozambique, such as graphite and rubies, to coal mining companies. She also advises the largest producer of hydroelectricity in Mozambique.

Africa Energy Futures: Mozambique

19 novembro 2021

Mozambique has the goal of becoming an energy hub in southern Africa with the production of hydrogen. Cheap energy used to produce hydrogen would be a real motivator for the construction of the long-awaited Mphanda Nkuwa Dam on the Zambezi River, a project that exists since the colonial era.
